
Perturbed variants always stay in their original message's split; test originals and test variants are never used for training or model selection.